 Oxford University: MSc in Global Economic Governance

A Doha native with a fervor for economics, I've always been captivated by how nations' wealth and resources shape societies. Over the last 9 years, I've committed to not only preparing students for their exams but also kindling a profound respect and intrigue for the subject's depth and breadth.

Tutoring Experience

In my near-decade of tutoring, I've specialized in the IB curriculum, mentoring over 150 students in their pursuit of economic excellence. My approach, which combines in-depth concept analysis with real-world applications, has been instrumental in many of my students achieving top-tier results and developing a genuine passion for the study of economies.

Tutoring Approach

I view economics as a living, breathing subject. By interweaving textbook theories with contemporary global events, I strive to make the learning experience both insightful and engaging. True comprehension, in my view, goes beyond rote learning. It's about discerning patterns, foreseeing consequences, and challenging norms. Through a mix of age-old teaching methodologies and modern-day perspectives, I aim for my students to not only ace their exams but to become astute economic thinkers.
